A Friend of the Family

ARDENODE

Mrs. George Dunn and family is at present the guest of her sister Mrs. P. E. Sarsons.

Friends of Mrs. E. Evans (late of Ardenode) will be sorry to learn she is suffering from a broken leg.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Donkin have left Ardenode for their new home in Huxley. Mr. Donkin has spent quite a number of years in this district, coming here around 1910. He had become a very familiar figure among his many friends. He also held the office of Constable for six years. We all wish both Mr. and Mrs. Donkin every success in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dawson moved into the home recently vacated by Mr. Donkin.

Mrs. O. C. Mow has been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

The farmers are very industrious this year.

WHEN SHALL WE HAVE MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

The need of a hospital for the Bow Valley district is ever present but the death of a woman recently in Strathmore, who was passing through brings to the attention of all the great lack that exists.

The representatives in the Municipal Council might very well get together and endeavor to work out some solution whereby the lives of the people might receive a reasonable chance for recovery when attacked by some disease.

The people of the district have been most fortunate in escaping with so few losses up to the present but at the same time under the law of averages, it can only be a matter of time until numerous cases will develop that will require hospital care.

The question of cost is always the bugaboo raised by those who have been fortunate in escaping illness themselves, or in their homes but the question of cost should not be a factor—lives are much more important than dollars.

The cost in no case would be unduly burdensome. If a large, municipal hospital covering a large area, should be found impractical in the beginning there is to be feared many districts that are successfully conducting ing first class small hospitals and the expense are raised to a very great extent through the efforts of the Community through making co-operative money raising plans.

Surely some of our municipal legislators have the necessary vision to start something like this.

It is not a "Don't rush! Don't crowd, let's get going before some home is wrecked owing to lack of proper care. Don't look the stable after the horse has been stolen.

COMMON INTEREST BETWEEN TOWN AND COUNTRY

A correspondent of the Manitoba Free Press writes concerning the report of the speech delivered by Fran Schultz, M. L. A. for Mount before the Young Liberal club.

Mr. Schultz stressed the fact that antagonism existed between rural and urban viewpoints and that it was desirable that a common meeting ground should be found.

In tracing this antagonism Mr. Schultz showed it had an historical basis. Agriculture was the oldest human industry and became the basis of urban culture when the first agriculturists were conquered by their more warlike neighbors whose military capacity became the model of the city states.

As a result of this conquest a certain antagonism existed from time immemorial between urban and rural interests and this attitude dominated the social tradition for centuries.

Tracing the influences that tend to effect rural development Mr. Schultz claimed that whereas the struggle of the agriculturist was man against nature that of the urban dweller was man against man.

Certain marked differences in mental characteristics were bound to result. In earlier times the isolation of the farmer tended to make him individualistic and conservative in outlook, but that a great change had taken place within the last two decades. The introduction of power farming, providing greater leisure, the widening of the area of social contacts by the common use of motor cars; the increased means of communication by telephone and radio; the introduction of more scientific methods of farming had all combined to slowly but surely urbanize the rural sections and this process was bound to be extended. The speaker also emphasized the fact that rural life tended to develop gentleness of character and independence of thinking. Most important of all developments was the tremendous growth of the co-operative movement, a movement in which, the speaker claimed, lay the best hope for improved agricultural conditions.

Everything possible should be done to get together in order that the people on the land should get together in every possible way which would help business in town by giving such a service that every one would be anxious to meet Strathmore a real trading centre.

Anti Her says: "I don't want no body irritin' 'em to a bridge party no hour before hand. It looks too much like I was needed because somebody else couldn't com."

The teacher, to impress on his pupils the value of thinking before speaking, told them to count to ten before saying anything important, and 100 if it was very important.

Next day he was speaking, standing with his back to the fire, when he noticed several tips flying rapidly.

Suddenly the whole class shouted: "98, 99, 100! Your coat's on fire, sir!"

The inhabitants of the district
were again treated by the men,
when their famous hush sheep
were moved on Monday evening, April 7th. The move was plentiful and good and a large crowd participated, also the program which took place in the church under the stars afterwards. The musical numbers were excellent and the enjoyable evening was concluded last night by the men installed in his R. Corcoran of Glendon on "The Birds of the Passage" and their significance with the men. The men regarded their venture as quite successful both financially
and socially.

Just one month from the date
Mr. Bert's Meat Market was destroyed by fire he was installed in his new building and doing business
in a very up to date manner with Frigidaires installed in the ice box
as well as cooler. All his machinery is run by electricity. It compares very favourably with the best in the city, let alone country markets. The actual building took place on the 26th and the contractor
is running the Trading Company's store to completion.

A few of the ladies entertained very delightfully at Bridge at the

Mr. Danneberg's sister Mrs. New-did not spoil the children's fun as they were enjoying a party at Mrs.

124 in honor of Miss Sarah's
8th birthday.

The Ryan house which has stood empty for some time is being made over and will shortly be occupied by a restaurant by Mr. and Mrs. York.

Rumors of more buildings in town, that in the air, some of them
will no doubt be started soon.

Don't forget the dance on Mon-

supper is to be served at midnight.

Mrs. Mike Brown left on Saturday for Strathmore where she will be a guest at the home of Mr. Chas Wuest.

A hotel chambermaid was tipped half-a-crown not to give away the bed that a couple just arrived
were newly married following upon her having looked in their room
and found them disposing of the confetti.
